Call for projects

Given the success of the training on Internationalization of the curriculum (May 2021), the Provost and Vice-President, Academic affairs, and the Vice-President, International and Francophonie are pleased to announce the Award of Excellence to recognize innovation involving internationalization in higher education teaching and learning.

This initiative is aimed at professors and program directors who wish to share their experience and be recognized for their work on internationalization of courses or programs.

Definition:

*Curriculum internationalization is the process of integrating global, international and intercultural perspectives into a curriculum, in terms of content, pedagogical approach and learning outcomes, with the aim of training professionals and global citizens. - (adapted from: Betty Leask, Internationalization of the curriculum, Routledge 2015)*

Purpose:

The purpose of this call is to value work on course or program internationalization and to award $1,300 to three (3) most deserving submissions.

Your proposal should include the following elements:

1. Identification of the initiative
2. Faculty or Service
3. Name of the contact person
4. Contact information (email and phone number)
5. Status (Full time or Part time professor)
6. Support form the faculty (course: program director, program: vice-dean, programs)
7. Description:
 1. How does the course or the program meet the following definition of internationalization of the curriculum? (maximum 300 words)

Curriculum internationalization is the process of integrating global, international and intercultural perspectives into a curriculum, in terms of content, pedagogical approach and learning outcomes, with the aim of training professionals and global citizens.

2. Submissions that show the nominated course or program was offered within 24 months prior to the nomination deadline will be given preference. In such case, include a description of the success, challenges and lessons learned (maximum 300 words).

How are proposals evaluated?

Please note that the selection process for this call for proposals will be a one-step process. A selection committee will evaluate the proposals and select those that best meet the criteria. The committee will also aim to ensure that the proposals selected are varied and representative.
