Statement of Language Proficiency

Interdisciplinary School of Health Sciences

The courses in the graduate programs offered at the Interdisciplinary School of Health Sciences are delivered in a bilingual format (both French and English). The language requirement for students admitted to these programs is an active language ability in English or French, and at least a passive language ability in the other language. Passive language ability is defined as both oral and reading comprehension sufficient to participate actively in courses. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that they meet the language requirements for admission. Students will be required to submit proof of language proficiency as part of their admission package (See the Graduate Studies : Application for admission's website in Step 2, section C for information on the documents that will need to be provided).

Once this form has been filled out and signed, it must be uploaded in your admission file via your uoZone account.

I confirm that I have read the above statement and that I understand the language requirements.
