Statement of Language Proficiency

Interdisciplinary School of Health Sciences

Courses in Interdisciplinary School of Health Sciences graduate programs are delivered in a bilingual format (French and English). Students admitted to these programs must have active language proficiency in either English or French, with passive language proficiency in the other language. Passive language proficiency is defined as both oral and reading comprehension sufficient to participate in courses.

You must ensure that you meet the language requirements for admission and submit proof of language proficiency as part of your admission package. See our examples of proof of language proficiency.

Once you have completed and signed this form, upload it to your admission file via your uoZone account.

I confirm that I have read the above statement and that I understand the language requirements.
