The Greenboro Family Medicine Centre is a family health organization located in southern Ottawa approximately 12 km from the downtown core. This site houses eight physicians who offer a wide range of medical services including obstetrics, dermatology, psychotherapy and more. They are accompanied by two full-time nurses and a friendly office staff. They are well equipped with 13 exam rooms, a teaching and presentation room, a lab and procedure room and use the electronic medical records system to track patients.

Greenboro provides primary care to all ages from newborn to elderly. The majority of their patients are middle to lower class and come from suburban areas of the city. In addition to training two residents per year, Greenboro also is very involved in undergraduate training for medical students. They often have medical students completing rotations from all four years of medical school.
