

RDM Challenges: Breakout & Discussion

Moderators:

James Doiron, University of Alberta
Jane Fry, Carleton University
Felicity Taylor, University of Ottawa

Shifting Horizons II: Realities of RDM Services

University of Ottawa

February 20, 2020

Breakout Session Instructions

The purpose of the breakout session is to identify and discuss RDM challenges that you encounter or questions that you have

Each of you has been assigned to one of 6 breakout groups - check your nametag to see which group you have been assigned to!

Groups 1-3 will stay in this room, while groups 4-6 will go to the room across from us - follow Felicity!

Breakout Session Instructions

Each breakout group has been supplied with:

- RDM challenges discussion topics
- Poster paper and markers

Each breakout group will choose:

- Someone to write down key discussion points
- Someone to read the key discussion points captured back to the larger group

Breakout Session Instructions

You will have until 12pm to discuss your RDM challenges & questions

All groups will then return to this room to report back and discuss!

RDM Challenges - discussion topics

1.

What are the biggest and/or most frequent RDM challenges that you encounter?

2.

What are the specific RDM training and skills that you would you like to have?

3.

How would you like to see RDM supported at your institution and/or within your organization?